JUDGE PENDLETON

Passes Away After a Long Illness.

Brief Sketch of the Career of the City Judge. The Funeral This Afternoon.

City Judge C. N. Pendleton died last night about 9 o'clock at his residence on Locust street, or cancer. He has been in bad health for the past year, and confined to his bed for two months.

Judge Pendleton was born in Christian county, February 19, 1831, where he attended school the early part of life and completed his education at Georgetown and Centre colleges. He then studied law at Elizabethtown, Ky., in the office of F. M. Bristow. When he was licensed to practice, he formed a partnership with Judges Graham and Stites. Afterward he moved to Logan county and was twice elected county attorney. In 1875 he ran against Polk Laffoon for state senator of the Sixth district and beat him for the Democratic nomination. Judge Clifton J. Pratt received the Republican nomination and was beaten by Judge Pendleton.

He was in the Confederate army and a captain in Woodward's brigade of Kentucky cavalry, that was under command of Gen. Forrest during most of the war.

Judge Pendleton came to Owensboro in 1884 as a clerk under the first Cleveland administration with Hunter Wood, the collector. When his term of office expired, he again took up the practice of law and was elected city attorney, and afterward city judge, which office he held two terms and died when his third term was half completed.

He was a brother of the eminent author and Baptist divine, James M. Pendleton, of Russellville, who died a few years ago. His wife, who was Miss Ella Garvin, survives him, also five children, who are Mrs. Mary P. Olmstead, of New York; Mrs. Nevy Powers, of Las Vegas, N. M.; Dr. Edward Pendleton of Denver, Col.; Miss Florence Pendleton, and James Pendleton, who live in this city. Dr. Edward Pendleton has been in attendance at his father's bedside for some time.

Judge Pendleton was a man of jovial disposition, with a large fund of information on all subjects and a pleasant companion. He was popular with all classes.—Owensboro Messenger.

MR. ALLENWORTH DECLINES

Professional Engagements Will Not Permit Him To Run.

MESSRS. ED. R. BOGARD, FRANK BOYD, AND OTHERS:

GENTLEMEN:—Profoundly moved by your confidence, expressed in the communication addressed to me over your signatures, and published in the issue of the KENTUCKIAN for the 29th instant, calling me to become a candidate for Representative from this county in the next General Assembly, after serious and thoughtful consideration I am constrained to decline a call, which, were it possible under the circumstances for me to do so, I would gladly accept, in order that I might have the opportunity to serve my county and state, and to prove to you that your confidence, so flatteringly expressed, has not been misplaced. To give in detail my reasons for declining is not needed. It is sufficient to say, that my professional engagements, previously made and now current, will imperatively demand the time and attention that would necessarily be diverted to my candidacy during the period before the election, should I consent to make the race, and my obligations growing out of these engagements I can not conscientiously disregard. But, I take the occasion to add, that, while I shall not be a candidate for office, I recognize the great importance of the pending contest for the political control of the State government. I shall not be an idle spectator of the conflict, but shall do all that I can honorably do, in my sphere, to accomplish success and to vindicate the authority of the Democratic party at the coming election.

Thanking you, one and all, as well as many other good and true men, for thus honoring me, I am,

Your obedient Servant,

JAS. B. ALLENWORTH.

INTERESTING SESSION.

At Logan Presbytery Held at Fairview This Week.

The Logan Presbytery closed an interesting session of two days at New Gashen Church, Fairview, Wednesday. There were about forty ministers present, representing all of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church of the state west of Louisville. In the absence of the Moderator, Dr. M. B. DeWitt, of this city, preached the opening sermon Tuesday. Tremendous crowds were in attendance both days and there was dinner in abundance to feed the mighty throng. Six young candidates for license to preach read their trial sermons and were passed upon favorably. Dr. J. M. Gill, of Elizabethtown, was chosen Moderator for the ensuing year. The session proved a most interesting one in every respect.

PRIMARY ELECTION.

City Committee Decides To Nominate at Once.

The City Democratic Committee, composed of George E. Gary, George B. Bradley, Frank H. Bassett and Frank Rives, met one day this week and decided to hold an old fashioned primary election. The date will be agreed upon at another meeting to be held probably today. It will be either the 8th or 15th. The polls will be open in all wards except the Fifth, between the hours of 8 a. m. and 4 p. m. All known democrats will be qualified to vote.

LADIES LITERARY CLUB.

Reorganized And Regular Meetings Will Be Resumed

The Wednesday Afternoon Literary Club has been reorganized for the winter season, with the addition of several new members. Mrs. A. S. Edmunds was re-elected President. The club will this year take up the study of American authors and history. The first meeting will be held next Wednesday when Christopher Columbus will be the central figure of the program,

MRS. ANNIE F. CRICK.

Institutes Suit For Divorce From Her Husband.

Mrs. Annie F. Crick vs. W. E. Crick, is the style of a suit filed with the Circuit Clerk Tuesday. Plaintiff asks for a divorce from her husband and the custody of her child. Cruelty and inhuman treatment is alleged. The couple were married in January 1891, and lived together, the petition states, until December, 1895. They reside near Red Hill, in Northeast Christian.

RIGHT ABOUT IT.

A Republican Leader Concedes Goebel's Election.

Paris, Ky., Aug. 30.—A prominent, influential and well-posted Republican of this city, who will not permit his name to be used, concedes the election of Goebel by 20,000 majority. He further stated that in his opinion Senator Goebel is now being persecuted and that he is very strongly inclined to vote for Goebel.

Mrs. J. W. Williams has returned from a visit to relatives in Pennsylvania.

BANKS SETTLE UP.

Fiscal Court Accepts a Compromise Proposition.
They Will Pay $7,000 in Cash And Transfer Excess Claims Against the State.

The Fiscal Court held a called session Wednesday and accepted the compromise proposition of the banks in settlement of the back taxes that have been the subject of prolonged litigation. The city not long ago settled with the banks but the county refused to compromise. The taxes due for five years up to and including 1897 amounted to the following figures:

Bank of Hopkinsville.....$6,566.00
City Bank.....3,365.81
Planters Bank.....2,046.72
Pembroke Deposit Bank.....851.59

Total.....$12,831.11
The First National Bank is not liable under a late decision of the Supreme Court.

The four banks offered to pay $7,000 cash and transfer to the county their excess claims against the state for $5,492.11. These claims grew out of the payment of 75 cents under the Hewitt law when according to the later decision the state was entitled to only 47 1/4 cents. This difference the banks are seeking to recover and these claims the county has accepted in the settlement.

Six of the justices voted for the settlement and two against it. Those voting in the negative were S. G. Buckner and B. F. Fuller.

AT CADIZ MONDAY.

There May Be a Clash Between Rival Orators.

The Democratic Campaign Committee has announced an appointment for Col. W. R. Howell at Cadiz next Monday, at the opening of Circuit Court.

The Brownie committee has also announced appointments at Cadiz at the same hour for Hal Corbett and Judge Ed. Kelly.

HOLINESS MEETING.

Annual Camp Meeting Commenced There on Yesterday.

The annual Holiness camp meeting began yesterday at Cabossa camp grounds, near Harmony, Todd county, and will continue ten days. The series of meetings will be conducted by Rev. Aura Smith and wife, assisted by other ministers from this state and Tennessee. There will be five services during each day and preparations have been made to accommodate the usual large crowds that attend these meetings every year. Low rates have been secured on the railroads and many from a distance are expected to be on hand. Visitors who go by rail will get off the cars at Gill station; which is only a short distance from the camp grounds. Mr. F. M. Pierce, wife and grandson and Mrs. W. N. Ducker and daughter, Miss Jennie, left yesterday for the meeting and Mr. Geo. R. Pierce, son Charles, and several from this city went over this morning.

SNOW AND FROST.

Not Among The Improbabilities During The Month.

The following gleanings are from Rev. Irl R. Hicks' weather forecasts for September:

The first storm period for September lies between the 2nd and 7th. Look for equatorial hurricanes in the extreme south, followed by much cooler weather. From 9th to 13th high temperature and electrical storms. Danger of frost from the Northwest following up this period.

Very warm weather will prevail over the continent from 15th to 20th, accompanied by storms and heavy gales from the Northwest, with probably snow and frost in more northerly sections latter part of the period. Unsettled, threatening weather from 21st to 24th. From the 25th to the end of the month decided storm conditions will develop and run their usual course from west to east across the continent. Some sleet may be looked for in northern sections as the month nears its close.

CORN CRIB

Struck by Lightning and a Farmer Was Cremated.

Charles Hale, a farmer living near Kirkmansville, was at work in his corn crib last Saturday, when it was struck by lightning. The electricity stunned Mr. Hale and at the same time set fire to and consumed the structure, which contained 50 barrels of corn. His wife, who was a few yards away, at the residence, seeing the crib on fire and knowing her husband was therein, ran at once to his relief and by almost superhuman efforts succeeded in pulling his body out of the flames. When rescued he was still alive but practically burned to a crisp. He only lived a few hours.

KENTUCKY CONTEST.

A Tennessee View of the Worth of Standard-Bearer Goebel.

An able, deep-thinking man of the Kentucky school has written a paper at the end of their strenuous effort to alienate the influence of Mr. Bryan from the supporters of his party. It comes in a widely disseminated endorsement of his candidacy. Thus has he foisted through the very bitter opposition of his party, contributed signalily to the success of the Democratic nominee.

It would be strange indeed, if these efforts of Goebel had not left a stone unturned in their efforts to defeat him. They have camped upon his political trail from the day the Democrats of Kentucky first determined to send him to the state assembly. There has been too little, to serve their purpose. Their efforts have not had the strength of his arm, then justify fear the consequences to them of his election as governor of Kentucky.

In the last few years William Goebel has arisen from the humble poverty to a position commanding the widest respect and respect the people of a great commonwealth to bestow. He has built up the largest law practice, the most loyal phalanx of friends, and is at the moment highly creditable array of qualities that any man in Kentucky can boast.

He has gained these things by unflinching courage and personal pluck.

From the moment his first candidacy was announced, those corporate interests of Kenton county that were accusted of corruption, knew they had a fresh and resolute foe to vanquish.

Before he was in the legislature for that short a time, he had a week's trial, and saw that their victim had gained a champion who fought the "outrageous" to the death. He had been exonerated from that day to this. William Goebel gives and asks no quarter. It is possible for that corporate and private interests to be corrupted by the corruption of legislators and executives a part of its business, to compass his defeat; this far it will be done.

There are no evidences of malice, no indications that will rouse them when they again approach the state board.

And he will be elected. The people who carried him to his majority in the Legislature at the Louisville convention will sweep him to a yet grander one in November. They know he stands for public interest against private interests, and stands too boldly for the gates of political perchance, to prevail against him.

In all Kentucky there is no man so valiantly born as General as Chief Justice William P. Bryan. For more than a quarter of a century his name has stood as synonymous for all that is good and upright in Kentucky politics. When the deadlock in the Louisville convention seemed to threaten disaster to the party the eyes of many turned to Jackson more than any other man in America, and in his opposition to concentrated power, the encroachment of wealth. The corporations of that day hated Jackson just as those of today hate Goebel. Jackson, like the people, are defied monopoly. Goebel is doing the same thing.

He is a champion of the people, and he is asked to allow the use of his name for that purpose. His dedication to the principles of the people, is what makes him Goebel," he said. "I know him, and therefore I am for him. I would rather him than any other stand for my principles. Such a man is needed in Kentucky today."

The record of this discerning judge will be a sentiment of all that is best among the people of our sister state. There are enough men who think as he does to make William Goebel known.

He will be a good man to keep on the November election returns if you doubt it.—Chattanooga News.

—STONE'S APPEAL.

Kentucky Democrats Should Put All Personal Differences Aside.

Headquarters Gleaner.

The following letter from ex-Governor of the state of Missouri on the situation in Kentucky is second in interest only to the recent letter of Mr. Bryan, who did not indicate the personal action of the Kentucky Democratic convention, but gave a strong personal endorsement to Mr. Goebel from his knowledge of the man.

Gov. Stone is the vice chairman and acting chairman of the Democratic national committee, and is one of the most prominent men in the country. His letter possessed peculiar interest at this time.

St. Louis, Aug. 2, 1899.

Hon. Ury Woodson, Owensboro, Ky.

Dear Mr. Woodson:—Your favor of the 27th ult. is entirely clear and I appreciate your desire to lay aside mere personal considerations and strive to elect the ticket nominated at Louisville. I have no doubt that the Democratic party, with the exception of a few individuals, will do all in their power to elect Mr. Goebel.

Goebel Refutes a Charge.

The traducers of Mr. Goebel have their last prop knocked from under them. It has been published broad cast over the land by his enemies, that he was a traitor to his party, and that he never was accused of disloyalty to his party. I should never have voted for Brown in the convention under any circumstances.

Wat Hardin down in 1895. He was throwing sticks at Hardin all the time, and much of the ammunition of which was furnished him by his enemies.

He is in no shape to call for Democratic support, especially from Hardin men.—Glasgow Daily Journal.

Goebel Refutes a Charge.

The traducers of Mr. Goebel have their last prop knocked from under them. It has been published broad cast over the land by his enemies, that he was a traitor to his party, and that he never was accused of disloyalty to his party. I should never have voted for Brown in the convention under any circumstances.

Wat Hardin down in 1895. He was throwing sticks at Hardin all the time, and much of the ammunition of which was furnished him by his enemies.

He is in no shape to call for Democratic support, especially from Hardin men.—Glasgow Daily Journal.

—STONE'S APPEAL.

Kentucky Democrats Should Put All Personal Differences Aside.

Headquarters Gleaner.

The following letter from ex-Governor of the state of Missouri on the situation in Kentucky is second in interest only to the recent letter of Mr. Bryan, who did not indicate the personal action of the Kentucky Democratic convention, but gave a strong personal endorsement to Mr. Goebel from his knowledge of the man.

Gov. Stone is the vice chairman and acting chairman of the Democratic national committee, and is one of the most prominent men in the country. His letter possessed peculiar interest at this time.

St. Louis, Aug. 2, 1899.

Hon. Ury Woodson, Owensboro, Ky.

Dear Mr. Woodson:—Your favor of the 27th ult. is entirely clear and I appreciate your desire to lay aside mere personal considerations and strive to elect the ticket nominated at Louisville. I have no doubt that the Democratic party, with the exception of a few individuals, will do all in their power to elect Mr. Goebel.

Silver Wyandottes.

Silver Wyandottes have an effective champion in Henry Steinmesh, who in a recent number of American Poultry Journal says that in his fourteen years' experience there has never before been such a demand for good birds of that breed, which he calls "the most beautiful and useful breed," as there is now. He considers the Silver Wyandotte the best all purpose fowl in the United States, and says it is so recognized in England, leading all others at the principal English shows. To justify his admiration for the breed he says:

The qualities claimed for the Silver Wyandottes are their beautiful markings, hardiness, quick growth (making splendid broilers at eight to ten weeks, well feathered and plump of body,) or fine table fowl when matured, weighing about five pounds then, the meat being tender and juicy; or, if you want a fowl for eggs, they are second to none, especially winter layers, having the advantages of Leghorns, their only rivals as layers, in this—that they are quiet and gentle, and can easily be controlled in a four-foot poultry net, fence and, again, in the fact that they will raise a brood or two of chickens every year, and do it in such a way that it is safe to count on bringing up 90 per cent of the chicks hatched. For utility and beauty are for the fancier or farmer, or for the amateur with restricted suburban lot, there is no other breed of poultry that will give quite as much pleasure and profit as the Silver Wyandotte.

Eggs and Fowls in Havana.

A New York firm has been experimenting with shipments of eggs and poultry to Havana, but not with encouraging success. Two carloads of live poultry and 175 cases of eggs were shipped, the stock coming from Tennessee and going via Port Tampa, Fla., taking two days to reach Havana. The breakage of eggs was remarkable. One lot brought 19¢ per dozen, another 16¢. The poultry were carried on the hold of the vessel—dark, hot and badly ventilated—and of the first lot 100 died, of the second, 200. The price at Havana could not overcome this loss. Chickens brought $7.00 a dozen. Still the demand is such that shipped in cool weather, and with better facilities, there will be profit in the business.

Sorehead.

Sorehead usually appears in this section in August or September, though it sometimes comes as early as July. The first symptoms are dark spots on the comb and wattles. These spots grow into sores in a few days, which discharge matter, and in a short time the head of the fowl is a mass of sores. The eyes become closed and the matter pressing on the balls destroy the sight.

Treatment: Watch the combs and wattles every day, and as soon as the spots appear catch every chicken on the place, excepting those under two months old, and apply kerosene oil to the comb, face and wattles, taking care not to put any in the eyes. Repeat twice a week until cured. If the eyes become closed open the lids and extract the matter with a small blunt stick. Feed on very moist meal and keep cooped until sight is restored. It is not necessary to separate the sick fowls from the rest; as they will all have it. Chicks under two months old rarely have the disease, but when they do it usually proves fatal.

Don't try to cure them, it is time wasted. Keep down lice and mites, feed wholesome food, treat the disease as result. Remember to begin treatment in time. The above is the experience of an Alabama correspondent of the American Poultry Journal.

168,000,000 Eggs in Chicago.

Chicago has nearly 30 per cent. of all the eggs in storage in the United States, according to the statements of the managers of the various cold-storage plants in this city. The following are the quantities of eggs now in the coolers:

Western Refrigerator Company, State and Michigan streets, 290,000 cases; Produce Refrigerator Company, West Lake street, 150,000 cases; Monarch Refrigerator Company, Michigan street, 125,000 cases; Union Cold Storage and Warehouse Company, State street, 100,000 cases; John Drucker, Canal street, 20,000 cases; A. H. Barber & Co., and P. H. Bolter & Co., South Water street, 15,000 cases. This total of 700,000 cases, or 168,000,000 eggs, is 280,000 cases more than were in cold storage last year. The total cost was $2,677,500. Storage and insurance will increase the price to an average of fourteen cents a dozen, two cents a dozen more than last year. (Chicago telegrams to the New York Times.)

KISSES SENT BY MAIL.

Invention of a Washington Girl for the Benefit of Lovers.

Since the day the first love letter was entrusted to the mails—and that is a very long time ago—sweethearts all over the land have mourned the truth of the sorrowful axiom that "Kisses can't be sent by post."

Now, those sorrowful ones can take heart, for there has arisen a guide to point a path through the desert of absence. A Washington girl has invented a method of sending kisses by mail. Never again need the sighing distant maiden place an inky cross at the bottom of her letter as the conventional symbol of a long-wonder worker has devised a method by which she can present to the favored one the living image of a kiss from her own rosy lips. It is a sort of sign label, incapable of forgery or successful imitation. It is the veritable documentary evidence of a kiss given and received, and it may yet prove to be of vast legal import.

Like many another good thing the mailable kiss was discovered by accident—at least that is what the inventress says. She also declares that it was first imprinted upon paper, but that also, is a statement unsupported by independent testimony. The first kiss ever successfully sent by mail is in evidence, but where are the papers showing the experimental stages? Even paper, be it remembered, was originally parchment—and parchment is skin.

According to the inventress the method of the discovery was this: It happened one day that she wished to write a letter to "him." It was a chilly day and a blustery—she says—and to protect her carnine lips from the salutation of the winds she reached for a little box of salve upon her dressing table and therewith liberally anointed her lips. And in that salve there was a considerable percentage of rouge.

The letter having been finished, it was adored at the foot with the conventional brace of inky crosses. Now, she hadn't seen him for a very long time, and the last letter he wrote was really a nice one, so that it was understandable that, the crosses having been made—and blotted—she should press her lips just once to the letter.

The rouge in the salve did the rest. It was a little greasy, perhaps, but the unintentional result was a very perfect picture of a pair of pursed lips. The inventress was so pleased that she tried it again, and the second picture was better than the first.

When those pictures reached their destination it did not need the inscription, these are genuine, to tell the recipient what to do with them. They spoke for themselves.

No patent upon the process has yet been applied for, but a slight improvement in the original method has been made. It is now the fashion to slightly damp the paper and to dust with dry powder the lips of the sender. It works just as well and the kisses don't smell. Remember to begin treatment in time. The above is the experience of an Alabama correspondent of the American Poultry Journal.

Elsewhere in to-day's issue will be found a card from Mr. Jas. B. Allenworth in which he declines to become a candidate for representative, in response to a call signed by nearly every Democratic voter in the town of Lafayette. Mr. Allenworth is a lawyer of wide popularity, especially in the Southern portion of the county where his acquaintance is very general. His professional engagements are such that he cannot enter into a political contest, but he is earnestly and strongly for the state ticket and will probably be heard upon the stump later in the campaign.

Edwin R. Settle is a coming young man in Owensboro. His speech before the Goebel club last night was admirable.—Owensboro Messenger.

Mr. Settle is a talented young lawyer who began the practice of his profession in this city. He is a son of Rev. IL C. Settle, of Bowling Green, and is a brother-in-law of Jno. S. Rhea.

The Democratic Headquarters will be moved to the Galt House in Louisville to-day. Rooms 102, 103, 104 and 108 have been secured for the purpose. Two of these rooms were used by Senator Goebel during the convention. They are admirably located on the First street side of the building, on the first floor.

Gov. Brown admits that he would have accepted the nomination of the Louisville convention upon a platform endorsing the election law. Failing to get the nomination he desired, he is now speaking against the plank in the platform demanding honest elections.

Theodore Hallam ought to pray to be delivered from his friends. The very next day after Goebel described his face as being "similar to a cancerous beefsteak" the Louisville Post printed Hallam's picture face and all. And the Post claims to be friendly to Hallam.

Jno. R. McLean, editor of the Cincinnati Enquirer, was nominated for Governor of Ohio on the first ballot over several opponents. He is young, popular, able and rich and if anybody can redeem Ohio McLean is the man to do it. Bryan will help him in his fight.

A special election was held in Bland's old district Tuesday and Dorsey W. Shadeford, Democrat, was elected over W. J. Vershall, Republican, by $200 majority. The Republicans attempted to capture the district with boodle, but the majority is about as usual.

Last Monday a man went into a book store in Hopkinsville and paid $1.20 for a school book. In Indiana he could have bought the same book for 66 cents. A vote against Goebel means a continuance of high prices for school books.

State Senator Wm. Clark was a participant in a bloody street fight in London, Ky., a few days ago and was shot two or three times. He and another man fought James Hayes and his three sons. One of the Hayes boys was fatally shot.

The Taylor campaign seems to be dragging on the ground early in the campaign. More than 100 Democratic speeches have already been made, while the Republicans have just begun to announce a few scattering appointments.

John R. McLean is running for Governor of Ohio on a platform endorsing Bryan. This is answer enough to the lie that McLean is against Bryan.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications as the cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional treatment. It is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tubes. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. No cases out of ten are caused by Otitis, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

TUESDAY.

Senator Goebel and Capt. James Blackburn have announced the following additional joint appointments:

At Louisa, Lawrence county, Thursday, September 14.

At Paintsville, Johnson county, Friday, September 15.

At Prestonsburg, Floyd county, Saturday, September 16.

At Pikeville, Pike county, Monday, September 18.

At Hindman, Knott county, Wednesday, September 20.

At Salersville, Magoffin county, Friday, September 22.

At West Liberty, Morgan county, Saturday, September 25.

At Princeton Tuesday, Roaring Hill Sweeny and Beefsteak Hallam, in a county of 20,000 population, drew 200 people, according to the count of their own organs. Goebel and Blackburn will speak at Princeton next Wednesday, and the Democrats will turn out in numbers sufficient to give the lie to the charge that Caldwell county will not do her full duty in November.

Senator Blackburn will be absent from the state for ten days this month, but will return in time to speak with Goebel at Versailles September 25. The last week in the month they will return to Western Kentucky and speak here about September 27.

Nute Tucker, a fourteen-year-old white boy, was shot and perhaps fatally wounded by Joe Jones, whose watermelon patch he was raiding with a crowd of boys at Fulton, Ky.

Mt. Sterling negroes are trying to call Taylor out on the separate coach law. They are threatening to bolt over their inability to get an expression from him.

Has anybody heard of any Democrat of national prominence who is willing to speak against Goebel and Blackburn and the rest of the Democratic ticket?

Yokohama, Japan, had one of the great fires of the century August 12. A square mile of buildings were destroyed and 160 lives lost.

JUBILEE YEAR

SOUTH KENTUCKY COLLEGE.
SESSION BEGINS SEPT. 5.

Possibly not many have had their attention called to the fact that SOUTH KENTUCKY COLLEGE is entering upon its fiftieth year. It is a source of pride among its friends that it has in all these years lacked but a few months of running all the time. There are few better schools accessible to the people of this country. If you are trying to select a school, you should be satisfied with none but the best.

A good one can be selected unerringly, if you know how, because schools have evidences of character as much as people, and points of excellence just as any sizable commodity.

The evidences of the character of a school can be investigated within the radius of its influence, by observation and inquiry. The most obvious are: FIRST—

The People It Has Educated.

"By their fruits" is the "natural as well as scriptural way of judging things. Schools are not exceptions. Their work must show in the character of those who have been their pupils. Learn whether these have acquired knowledge, developed mental power, and become self-governing men and women in life, and you will know much of the schools from which they have come.

SECOND—

The Test of Time.

"The fittest only survive" is not a rule without exception, and in the case of schools, especially is it truly apparent in exceptions for it is always a matter of surprise to find that a school of long standing is not a good one. It is not intended to argue that new schools are not good. They may or may not be so, but one that has lived and prospered a half a century, or so, is surely worthy.

The points of excellence of a school will be determined only by well directed effort, and the want of them is frequently unnoticed. No school is worth your time and money if it lacks the following:

First—

A Good Faculty.

Those who teach the young should be correct themselves; therefore, good teachers must be moral and Christian. Schools supported by churches are most likely to have such. Every department should be in charge of a competent teacher who has made special preparation for it. "Aptness to teach" is an essential in a teacher. No amount of scholarship will supply its lack. Want of it discovers many a dull pupil, and makes learning a burden instead of wholesome employment. SECOND—

Discipline.

"Conduct," says Matthew Arnold, "is three-fourths of life." Learning comes only through constant application, and this is possible only for those of regular habits. Young people at home are directed and controlled by parents. To say the least, they will not need less at school. Most pupils used to be restrained from doing wrong, and many must be kept from it by punishment. Most communities have examples of young men who have been ruined in character while at colleges weak and careless in government. The parent who places a son in a school where he becomes prodigal and licentious does worse than to leave him uneducated. Keep your children at home or send them where they will be governed. THIRD—

Religious Influence.

A school without religion is, indeed, salt without savour. There is no other anchor so sure. Without this foundation of all knowledge it becomes worse than the blind leading the blind, for it is the blind leading to blindness. Schools fostered by churches and religious institutions are safest. They have no object but the betterment of mankind.

South Kentucky College Is Such A School.

The people it has educated are among the best and most prosperous people of this country. They are following almost every honorable calling and holding positions of profit and trust. We are willing that you judge the college by them.

The Test of Time.

entering upon its fiftieth year. Save a few months when it was occupied as a military hospital, and a short time, again, when it was being rebuilt after a fire, it has been in continuous, successful operation. Pupils have recently matriculated whose parents and grandparents were educated here.

A Good Faculty.

is a prominent feature of South Kentucky College. It is composed of ten well trained teachers, each teaching a definite part of the course for which special preparation has been made. Each is selected on account of fitness. None are retained unless found competent and worthy.

Discipline.

is considered worth our closest attention, and those who are in charge of this part of the work have for many years, been successfully engaged in developing the moral powers of young people. Our aim in this direction is to lead them through a course of moral activities that will develop character. To accomplish this we demand order, promptness, industry. We claim we believe successfully, that pupils always leave us better than when they came. There is good in every person which will constantly increase with intelligent development.

Religious Influence.

From the beginning Bible teaching has had a prominent place in the school. It is not denominational in teaching, but thoroughly Christian. Hopkinsville is a town of churches and church-going people. There is an unusually wholesome religious atmosphere here. All pupils are expected to attend Sunday school and church regularly.

Remarks.

Two Schools In One.—South Kentucky College has a Male Department and a Female Department, which are separate in location of buildings and in management. The Department for Young Ladies is managed as the best female schools. The Department for Young Men is managed as the best male schools. In their union they have the advantages of a school for both sexes without its so-called objectionable features.

Fine Arts.

The college offers exceptionally good advantages in Music, Elocution and Art. The teachers are from the leading Eastern conservatories and masters. Certificates from this college will secure advanced standing in these conservatories. You will make no mistake in coming here for the general or special study of these branches.

Expenses.

Running a school is a very expensive business. If it is run, as a factory or store, for the purpose of making money, or even with a view to getting legal interest on the investment, the prices are beyond the reach of most people. Schools that hold their grounds, buildings and equipment, as an endowment, having no rent or tax, are much cheaper than those that are expected to, "declare a dividend." On this account South Kentucky College is cheaper than many schools that offer no better advantages. $160 for a young lady, or $145 for a young man, pays board and tuition for one year.

REV. B. F. HUNGEFORD.

Tells Why He Proposes To Make Speeches For Goebel.

Shelbyville, Ky., Aug. 28.—Rev. B. F. Hungeford, of this city, having announced his intention of going upon the stump for Senator Goebel, he was asked to state why he was supporting the Democratic nominee. Rev. Hungeford wrote out his reasons as follows:

First—Because he is the regular nominee of the Democratic party.

Second—Because he stands squarely on the Democratic platform, not only endorsing, but ably defending, every plank thereof.

Third—During his whole legislative career he has been on the side of the people and against all trusts and combines.

Fourth—Because he was mainly instrumental in defeating the L. and N. railroad in its efforts to abolish the Railroad Commission, through which the said railroad was forced to pay taxes on $3,000,000 worth property which had theretofore escaped taxation.

Fifth—Because by his defeat Jo C. S. Blackburn's chances for election to the United States Senate would be greatly imperiled, and I am for Jo Blackburn first, last and all the time.

Sixth—Because by his election the grand old Commonwealth will be redeemed from Republican misrule.

Seventh—Because he has the courage of his convictions and will stand by them notwithstanding all the abuse and contumely his enemies may heap upon him.

Rev. Hungeford will make his first speech at Taylorsville next Monday.

Fine Farm in This County For Sale.

In order to wind up the estate of Dr. Jas. Wheeler, deceased, we offer for sale his home place known as "Richland" situated on the Kentucky and Tennessee turnpike 5 miles south of Hopkinsville.

His tract of land contains 450 acres, is in a perfect state of cultivation and is one of the most fertile and productive farms in the state.

There is on it a fine brick residence of 9 or 10 rooms with hall, bath room, pantry, cellar and kitchen, costing originally $17,000, to build, now in good repair. Also, 5 large tobacco barns, stable, 9 or 10 servant houses and all needful out houses.

It has an unusual supply of water in great quantity. No more desirable suburban home can be found anywhere. Its soil is unequalled in productivity. Yielding in ordinary season, 1000 lbs. tobacco, 25 to 30 bushels of wheat and 8 or 10 bbls. of corn to each acre in cultivation.

Time to suit purchaser. Apply to W. G. WHEELER, Hopkinsville, or C. K. WHEELER & W. F. BADWICH, Paducah.

Another Preacher Speaks Out.

Fulton, Ky., Aug. 30.—Rev. J. H. Milburn, the leading Baptist minister in this section, who has perhaps held more debates defending his church than any other one man, is a strong Democrat and declares his intention of voting for Goebel.

First—Because he is the regular nominee of the Democratic party.

Second—Because he stands squarely on the Democratic platform, not only endorsing, but ably defending, every plank thereof.

Third—During his whole legislative career he has been on the side of the people and against all trusts and combines.

Fourth—Because he was mainly instrumental in defeating the L. and N. railroad in its efforts to abolish the Railroad Commission, through which the said railroad was forced to pay taxes on $3,000,000 worth property which had theretofore escaped taxation.

Fifth—Because by his defeat Jo C. S. Blackburn's chances for election to the United States Senate would be greatly imperiled, and I am for Jo Blackburn first, last and all the time.

Sixth—Because by his election the grand old Commonwealth will be redeemed from Republican misrule.

Seventh—Because he has the courage of his convictions and will stand by them notwithstanding all the abuse and contumely his enemies may heap upon him.

Rev. Hungeford will make his first speech at Taylorsville next Monday.

OUR ST. BERNARD.

As Elmer.
No more we catches on our terraced hill,
And bounds to meet when we homeward comes.
The soft brown eyes are closed; the voice that kiss'd my hand are cold and dumb— Berrie is dead!

How like a knell those words fall on my heart; Cold as the grave we made her in our grave; How we spend my busy life apart
From her who guarded us from dark dawn!

I wrote my book with Berrie at my side;
Her great brown head lay often on my knee;

She was the pet of children for and wide;
Her silent speech was restful food.

Six years we walked together in the wood,
With her I crooked, with her I crooked;

My every word and tone she understood;
Grateful for praise, and ever tended look.

Such truth do the right I never knew;
Unshaken, faithful to the very end,

Dear, precious Berrie, trust of the true;

Our constant, trusting and devoted friend.

Her gentle nature knew no thought of fear;
With patience to the last she waited,

We wept in secret though we spoke with cheer.

And wept and hoped, until death's hour had passed.

The snow lies deep upon Berrie's grave;

Shut out forever from our human sight;

Would you could know the joy her short life gave.

Or how her absence turns the day to night— Berrie is dead!

Uncle Robert's Deafness.

By George T. Ade

When Uncle Robert came into the room with his hand蔽ed before his ear to intercept the diffused sound waves and said: "What's that?" it had the effect of instantly silencing the most animated group, and caused a cessation forthwith of languid discussion.

Neither Laura nor Tom nor Laura's and Tom's

Uncle Robert, father and mother,

Mr. and Mrs. Baring, had reached the unbridged views on the subject of Uncle Robert's deafness to become known to him some people,

young people especially — might have shunned him, but they were not so inconsiderate. They knew that he couldn't help his deafness, and that he was of a sensitive nature, besides being a man possessed of a large amount of personal tact and discretion; therefore as they were a kindly family they bore gently and tenderly with his infirmitiy.

Nevertheless, it was not only hard on the voice, but it taxed the inventive faculties to considerable extent. Matters of a personal and pri-uate nature were sometimes discussed in the family circle, and it was too much to expect that such a talk should be shouted so as to be perfectly heard to the people in the next flat. In such a case the person required to shout was compelled to substitute remarks on the Philippine situation or the prices of plumbing material or some other topic of a universal sort.

Again, it was awkward before a stranger, Mr. Wills is not exactly a stranger, as he calls regularly three times in the week, and drops in casually on the other four. He is a friend of Tom's, and takes a great interest in the society of Mr.

and Mrs. Baring. About a week ago

he happened to be talking to Laura, and Uncle Robert,

Mr. Baring, who was sitting quite near them, suddenly laid his hand on his chin, and hitched up his chair around, looking at

Mr. Wills with an inquiring smile.

"Huh!" he said; "what was that?"

Mr. Wills blushed a rosy red, and looked very much disconcerted.

"I—I'er—I was saying—" he began.

"You'll have to speak a little louder," said Uncle Robert. "I'm rather hard of hearing."

Mr. Wills hesitated and called in an idle fashion at Laura, while his blushing deepened and extended to the tops of his rather large ears and the rim of his shiny collar. At this juncture

Laura sprang with green coolness and self-possession.

Mr. Wills was saying that he no longer had any desire to go to the front, and since he had already taken up the old cedar blocks and put down asphalt. He thinks it would be a great improvement if we were to grade Corliss street and put down asphalt there, but he supposes

the property-holders on the east side of the street would object."

Then he added, in an undertone a little above the ordinary conversation

pitch: "Why, I—I'er—I don't know what I said!" he says so himself?" and re-sumed his news-paper.

As Tom said, that "I'm—m—m!" was the most exasperat-ing thing about the whole business. "After you have hollered at with your eyes buggering out of your head and your throat raw."

THE NEW YORK WORLD, THREE-A-WEEK EDITION.

PRACTICALLY A DAILY AT THE PRICE OF A WEEKLY.

The striking and important events of the last year have established the overwhelming value of THE THREE-A-WEEK WORLD to every man. It has kept its readers informed of the progress of all our wars and, moreover, has reported them as promptly and fully as if they were daily. With our interests still extending throughout the world, with our troops operating in the Philippines, and the great Presidential campaign, too, at hand, its value is further increased.

The value of THE THREE-A-WEEK WORLD is improvement. It strives each year to be better than it was the year before, and the public confidence in it is shown by the fact that now circulates more than twice as many papers every week as any other newspaper, not a daily, published in America.

We offer this unequalled newspaper and THE NEW YORKER together one year for $2.50.

The regular subscription price of the two papers is $3.00.

IN MEMORY OF DAVIS

Status to Be Erected at Richmond by His Widow.

To Be Placed Upon the Family Plot in Hollywood Cemetery, Where Repose the Remains of the Southern Leader.

At last the south is to have a statue of Jefferson Davis, not the imposing work of art which it has long been the cherished wish of the south to erect to his memory and which it their fond hope may compare favorably with the magnificent memorial of Gen. Grant, but nevertheless beautiful and enduring tribute, which all of Mr. Davis' friends desire.

This statue has been modeled entirely at the expense of Mr. Davis' widow and of his daughter, Mrs. Hayes, and is therefore in no sense a public memorial.

The sculptor is Mr. George J. Zoinay, of New York. The statue is of heroic size, its exact height being seven and one-half feet, and it will eventually rest upon a granite pedestal of twelve inches square. All the available materials that could aid the sculptor in producing a true likeness of the late leader of the confederacy was placed at his disposal by Mrs. Davis and her daughter and on their authority it may be said that there is no photograph or painting of Mr. Davis in existence which is altogether as perfect a portrait of him as is this statue.

Mr. Davis, like the majority of his contemporaries of the south, was a horseman, and the light and skill of the expert rider has been admirably reproduced by the sculptor. On the whole, however, his conception is that of a statesman rather than of a soldier.

In this statue Mr. Davis is seen at his best and the pose and expression of face suggest the man who ably and fearlessly led his people during the critical days that tried their souls.

Mrs. Davis spent many hours in the sculptor's studio, observing the progress of the work and offering suggestions and advice. Moreover, she was fortunately able to provide him with the very clothes which her husband wore at the time of his capture by a band of Union soldiers in the interior of Alabama. These clothes the sculptor has faithfully reproduced in the statue.

During a conversation which a Philadelphia Press man recently had with Mrs. Davis she spoke enthusiastically and feelingly of Mr. Zoinay's work, which she said was satisfactory to her in all respects. She added that it was the only authorative opinion she had ever had concerning a bust of her husband, notably his bust of Sam Davis, the so-called Confederate spy, and his sketch for a memorial of my daughter, Winnie, which he had made for the Daughters of the Confederacy, and I therefore selected him as the sculptor."

"I have long desired," she said, "to obtain a fitting memorial of Mr. Davis, and when the opportunity presented itself I decided that it should take the form of a bronze statue. I had seen a bronze statue of General Grant by Mr. Zoinay notably his bust of Sam Davis, the so-called Confederate spy, and his sketch for a memorial of my daughter, Winnie, which he had made for the Daughters of the Confederacy, and I therefore selected him as the sculptor."

Mrs. Davis spoke very tenderly of the south, of the affection of its people for her husband and of the love and tenderness which she herself and her family bore. During the conversation she also related to Mrs. Grant, and she assured me that it had given her great pleasure to have made the acquaintance of the widow of the magnanimous union leader.

I learned from her that the statue of Mr. Davis is to be placed, probably at an early date in the coming autumn, upon the most remarkable elevation known, while in a Herfordshire church, the tick of a watch may be heard from one end of the building to the other. It is also stated that in the Cathedral of Girgenti, in Sicily, the slightest whisper is borne with perfect distinctness from the greatest western door to the corinice behind the altar, a distance of about 150 feet.

Echoes in Church.

In a Sunday church here is said to be the most remarkable echo known, while in a Herfordshire church, the tick of a watch may be heard from one end of the building to the other. It is also stated that in the Cathedral of Girgenti, in Sicily, the slightest whisper is borne with perfect distinctness from the greatest western door to the corinice behind the altar, a distance of about 150 feet.

Said to Extinguish Fire.

Sand will be used to extinguish fire, if there should be one in the new telephone company's exchange at Indianapolis. It is used in the United States in the theoretical apparatus that water or chemicals would be. The sand is stored in a large tank above the exchange room, and is sifted automatically to any or all parts of the building in such manner as to smother the fire effectively.

Watch Weighed 27 Pounds.

Emperor Charles V. carried a watch in 1530 that weighed 27 pounds. In such a case it is proper to say only "carried"; such a watch is never "worn."

EAST INDIAN FAKIRS

One of Their Most Wonderful Tricks Exposed in Detail.

How a Hindoo Who Had Been Buried Alive Came Back to His Friends—Squaring Miraculous About the Feat.

"It was on the way from Punnah to Dewah, in southern India," said the bronze-faced man to a Cincinnati Commercial reporter. "Our party had just reached the dark bungalow about four o'clock in the afternoon, and found assembled there near a large banyan tree a number of fakirs. Their tricks were more than usually clever, and they became interested in us, and asked us to stay over night. Finally, as a parting stroke, they suggested that for a small sum of money one of their party should be buried alive. Our curiosity was not proof against such a tempting offer, and the rascals set to work.

"It did not take them long to make an excavation from 7 to 8 feet deep, and then to lay a thin board across the bottom. They then took a man, and laid him upon the board, and covered him with a layer of thin boards to prevent the soil from coming in contact with his body. This done, the others set to work with a will to shovel in, tramping down the earth solidly every few inches.

"An slim, wiry-looking man, with a cast in his left eye, was selected as the victim. He was bound with ropes, his hands and feet, and his incantations and pauses, soon had him rigid in a sort of hypnotic sleep; then, wrapping him loosely in a white cloth, he was lowered into the narrow part of the grave. Over him, resting upon the sandy ledge described, was placed a layer of thin boards to prevent the soil from coming in contact with his body. This done, the others set to work with a will to shovel in, tramping down the earth solidly every few inches.

"I confess that by this time I felt a trifle qualmish. The scene was rather too realistic for my fancy. Could it be deliberate murder and I accessory to the act? A sickly feeling crept over me, and I could not help making uneasy looks, only shored dirt and stamped the harder. In about 15 minutes they had smoothed over a neat mound and afterward sodded it evenly down.

"This was surely no common conjuring trick, and try as I might, I could not shake off the uncomfortable feeling of the act. A sickly feeling crept over me, and I could not help making uneasy looks, only shored dirt and stamped the harder.
